SENSES AUSTRALIA APPOINTS NEW CEO

Lisa Brennan is the newly appointed Chief Executive Officer at Senses Australia, a Western Australian not for profit disability service provider.

Colin Emmott, President of Senses Australia's Board, says Senses Australia looks forward to welcoming Ms Brennan as CEO on Monday, 8 January 2018.

"Lisa Brennan joins Senses Australia at an exciting time – a time in which Senses Australia is continuing to transform to ensure we continue to meet our objective to become the disability service provider of choice for the NDIS participant.

"Having been the Manager of Transition and Operational Planning at two major hospital projects, and more recently, as the Executive Director Child and Adolescent Community Health at the Department of Health leading several metro-wide service reforms, Ms Brennan will bring much experience and expertise to the role of Chief Executive Officer at Senses Australia.

"We look forward to welcoming Ms Brennan and working together to ensure we continue to support and encourage people of all ages with disability to live their life the way they choose, to be independent and be given opportunities to be part of their community," says Mr Emmott.

Senses Australia is one of Australia's leading not for profit organisations that provides world class disability services to the Western Australian community and has done so for more than 120 years. Everyday Senses Australia supports over 650 children and adults of all ages with a wide range of disabilities to reach their full potential.
